“ Whew! I can't believe it's been 9 months since you were called home. Your 75th birthday was Sunday and although it was an extremely sad day for us all, especially mom we still celebrated with a beautiful balloon release in your honor. The video is so amazing and to see all the balloons each with a message from your children and mom was released and flew up into the beautiful blue skies in formation. It was a beautiful moment. We love and miss you so much. We are still in disbelief and just going day by day watching all the videos of us over the years and our favorite of us is when you walked out the room all dressed up in your white coat and suit that mom bought you for Christmas and modeled out the room like a runway model! I still laugh hysterically about that every time I watch or hear the video!

“ Grandad, I'm missing you like crazy. I just lay down and think about all of the good times that we had. You have taught me so much. You are the reason why I got my very first job. I will never forget when you looked at me and you told grandma "Thats our baby! We can always count on her! She's more like our daughter" I never forgot those words. I miss you so much that it hurts. But you're no longer in pain now. Continue to watch over us and we love you so much!! -Arie <3

“ Taking us to New Jersey and going to watch the horse racing..... Best time ever was you getting the limo for Mom on your anniversary Dad you really showed out that day...walks on board walk eating at your favorite diner..... Playing your many many albums singing along while you filming us with your camera.... No more pain Dad you can rest now and watch over Mom! We love you R.I.P your Daughter Marilyn
