“ This is not right- at age 89, we assumed Sybil would be commenting on my obituary. Almost everywhere we went Sybil would see people she knew. She had a magnetic personality. You felt comfortable with Sybil. We discussed everything and yet never had a cross word. We would text and or talk every day. Her last text to me was Friday night at 11:43pm. I was asleep. I will miss Sybil every day.

“ I was Blessed to sit along side Sybil in the Choir at Chestnut Grove Baptist Church for several years. She was a sweet, caring, unchanging lady. I will miss seeing her, as we did on occasion, until we meet again in Heaven.

“ Sybil was so sweet and thoughtful. She was my massage client and friend for about 10 years. She always listened and talked openly with me. She was kind, supportive and caring. She inspired me to be strong and keep standing up for your own beliefs. She had a lot of difficult things happen to her but still remained steady. She will greatly missed in the wake of her untimely and unexpected passing.

I knew Sybil as a kind and caring individual that loved to sing with the Jubalheirs. She recently reached out to me with love and compassion expressing her condolences in the sudden loss of my son, Parker. She was a sensitive and discerning soul who loved the Lord and demonstrated that through her kindness and generous spirit.

Francy and I were stunned to hear of Sybil's passing. Mary Holley contacted us to give us the sad news. We met Sybil and John many years ago at Lynn's Place (or it could have been Mainstreet by then) for breakfast with Mary and Ernie Holley. It became a Saturday tradition. We helped celebrate the birth of both grandchildren. We mourned the passing of her husband John. When the pandemic hit we lost touch. Our hearts go out to Janet and especially to Brendan. He lost his grandmother (and grandfather) far too soon. We wish him the best moving forward. Tim and Francy MacBain

I was shocked beyond words when I heard of Sybil's death. We have been friends since she came to work at DOT when she was age 17. I was 22 at that time and we were the only females in the building. We fast became friends and that friendship lasted until her death. We always enjoyed each other. She went through my first pregnancy with me and then I was her Matron of Honor at her wedding when she married John Sligh. We had great fun making her attendants head pieces. John was such a nice person and they made a beautiful couple. Sybil was always kind, loving, smiling and I will always remember her cute smile and that button nose. I last saw Sybil early this year. She called me one night and we spent about 3 hours catching up and later meet for lunch at Season's 52. Such a happy day-she brought her wedding pictures and we enjoyed reminiscing and amazed at how young we were. Later she planned to come spend the day with me at my home but later called to say that it was Spring Break and she hated to leave her grandson. She was so proud of her grandson she showed me his pictures and told me what a good boy he was. She was just beaming! I will always miss this sweet lady. She enriched my life and I hope I did the same. I bet she caught John reading a book when she got to heaven!!
